College Repositions for Global Competitiveness, Inaugurates QACT

Participants at a sensitization programme organized by the College Quality Assurance Compliant Team (QACT)

The authorities of Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo have inaugurated a Quality Assurance Compliance Team (QACT) as part of the efforts to reposition the institution for global competitiveness and quality assurance.

The newly commissioned QACT members were trained in a two-day sensitization workshop held on Thursday and Friday, 26 and 27 November, 2020 at the Micro Teaching Laboratory Building in the College.

The College's Director of Quality Assurance, Dr. Olugbenga Ajere stated that the QACT was established for the purpose of assisting the institution's management in its drives of placing the College on the path of growth and attainment of high educational standards.

While giving a brief history of the Directorate, Dr. Ajere stated that its idea was conceived for the purpose of identifying areas that require necessary attention to foster smooth operations in the College.

The quality assurance Director lauded the decision of stakeholders in the education sector to introduce quality assurance as replacement of the old system of using inspectorate division, saying: "It is a right step in the right direction."

He, however, bemoaned what he described as a decline in quality of higher education in Nigeria.

Ajere stated the apparent drop in education quality would be addressed by effective monitoring, supervision and paying a greater attention to quality of instructional materials and lecture notes used for teaching.

He equally stated that provision of good healthcare facilities, equipment and staff capacity-building would enhance improved service delivery.

Dr. Olugbenga Ajere, QACT Chairman

Dr. Ajere, while appealing to members of the compliance team to see their assignment as a call to duty and an avenue to contribute their quota to the College's development, urged them to be dedicated to the task, doing it without fear or favour.

Speaking at the occasion, Provost of the institution, Dr. Samuel Akintunde, who was represented by the Dean School of Languages and Chairman Committee of Deans, Dr. Raphael Adesuyan, stressed the importance of quality assurance in education.

Dr. Akintunde revealed that the College Management's decision to establish the team internally was targeted at achieving better performance "in line with expectations of National Commission for Colleges of Education and in conformity with specified minimum standards in running academic programmes in the institution."

The College administrator, however, emphasized the need for the QACT members to work in one accord, saying the step would enable the team achieve its stated desired goals and objectives.

The highpoint of the two-day programme was an interactive session of the 28-member committee, chaired by the Director of Quality Assurance, with representatives from all the seven schools in the College: Adult, Non-formal and Special Education, Arts and Social Sciences, Early Childhood and Primary Education, General Education, Languages, Science, and Vocational and Technical Education.

The QACT members also include representatives from the Registry, Part-Time and Preliminary Programmes, Bursary, Health Services, Physical Planning, Works and Services, College Library, Post Graduate Studies and Research, Management Information System and Division of Student Affairs.

Tetfund Offers Adeyemi College Staff ICT Training

Participants at a Tetfund ICT training programme organized for staff of the College

The Tertiary Education Trust Fund, popularly known as Tetfund, has offered a one-week intensive training to staff of Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo on the use of computer in education, as part of its efforts in staff capacity strengthening in information and communication technology in tertiary institutions across the country.

This is Tetfund's training and retraining programmes for staff of tertiary institutions. Held between Monday and Friday, 19 - 23 October, 2020, it was attended by eighty-eight participants, drawn from both teaching and non-teaching staff of the College.

While declaring the exercise open, the College Provost, Dr. Samuel Akintunde lauded Tetfund for the initiative, stating that the move would help in enhancing the proficiency of the participants in the use of computer and bring positive results to the institution in the long run.

He stressed the need for participants to pay serious attention to the training, noting with optimism that knowledge acquired would be beneficial not only to them but also to other staff of the College who did not attend the training and society at large.

Earlier, the College's Acting Director of Management Information System (MIS), Dr. Kehinde Adelegan described the training as very important, hoping that participants would benefit maximally at the conclusion of the training.

Adelegan also expressed appreciation to Tetfund and College Management for partnering together in the task of advancing knowledge and technological development in the institution.

In her remarks, Tetfund's Principal Analyst, Alhaja Maryam AbdulRaheem stressed the importance of Information Communication Technology (ICT) in contemporary world, as she charged participants to put in their best during the training.

Other personalities who also spoke on the occasion were Head of the training team, Mr. Oyaremi Olaide and a member of the ICT group, Mr. Ola Opeoluwa.

The opening ceremony, which held in one of the computer training rooms at the College MIS Building, was attended by two principal officers of the College: Registrar, Mrs. Olufisayo Fakorede and Bursar, Mr. Ganiyu Olaniyi Abdul.

The one-week training exercise, was handled by ICT experts from International Computer Driving Licence Organization, FITS Concept Limited and AMTEC. Topics treated at the intermediate group class include cyber security, types of data threat, ethical hacking, challenges of data, social engineering, identify theft and encryption. ●

Covid-19: NASU, SUG Donate PPE to College

Covid-19: Personal Protective Equipment

As the fight against the dreaded novel corona virus (Covid-19) continues, the executives of Non Academic Staff Union (NASU) Adeyemi College of Education Chapter and the executives of Students' Union (SU) of the College have thrown their weights behind the College Management in the fight against the spread of the virus.

The two unions assured the College Management of their continuous supports while presenting some materials for the fight against Covid-19 to the institution's authorities on Monday, 19 October, 2020 at two separate events in the Provost's Office.

The Provost, Dr. Samuel Akintunde, while receiving the donations, expressed great joy for the kind gesture, stating that the steps taken by both the staff and students' unions have proven that they are partners in progress.

Speaking further, Dr. Akintunde said that the move by these unions in providing personal protective equipment to fight the spread of the virus speaks differently of what unions are known for. He concluded by saying that the College Management is proud of the unions in appreciation of the donations.

Provost, Dr. Samuel Akintunde

He thanked the unions for taking the welfare of the College community seriously and promised to ensure efficient utilization of those items for the good of all.

Speaking during the presentation, the NASU Chairman, Adeyemi Chapter, Comrade Michael Oshin stated that NASU, as a responsible union in line with the directive by the Federal Government to re-open tertiary institutions in the country, deemed it utmost important to ensure that Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo is a no-go area for the deadly corona virus that is ravaging the whole world.

Comrade Oshin quoted a former American president, John F. Kennedy, who said: "Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country." He said that in line with the quote above, NASU would always contribute meaningfully to the welfare, growth and development of the College as he advised all and sundry to key in to such principle.

On his own part, the SU president, Comrade Ayoola Olamilekan stated that in obedience to the directive by the Federal Government to ensure strict adherence to Covid-19 protocols, the Student Union executive resolved to contribute their quota to the efforts made by the College Management to ensure that Adeyemi College and every member of the College Community remain free from the virus.

Comrade Ayoola, however, advised members of the College community, especially students, to always ensure that they maintain personal hygiene and obey all the directives given so as to achieve safety for all.

Items donated by NASU executives were cartons of hand sanitizers and face shields, while the SUG donated bottles of hand sanitizers and some buckets. ●

Provost Eulogizes Outgoing Governing Council Members at Send-Off Party

The Provost, Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo, Dr. Samuel Akintunde has commended the outgoing members of Governing Council of the institution for positive contributions made to the uplift of the College.

Dr. Akintunde made the comment while speaking at the send-off party organized for members of the Council on Wednesday, 26 August, 2020 in the institution.

Describing the Council members as people imbued with wisdom and integrity, the College administrator noted that their stewardship in the College in the last three years brought tremendous growth in human, physical and capital development.

While expressing appreciation for support given to his administration by the Council under the leadership of Prof. Nathaniel Ohazurike, Dr. Akintunde stated that the love and useful advice usually coming from their end contributed immensely to placing the College on a path of growth

He added that the development has helped in enhancing the actualization of the dreams of its founding fathers.

He said, "I am very lucky to work with this set of Council members because by the grace of God, I never had any problem working with them. They also did not give me any problem at all, so I am very grateful."

Provost, Dr. Samuel Akintunde

"These Council members are wonderful and God-fearing individuals. Each of them is an embodiment of what you would described as ingenuity. They are very cerebral such that anytime they call to give you advice, you are sure that when you take it, you are going to have leeway to that challenge that you are facing," he remarked.

Further extolling the virtues of the Council members, Dr. Akintunde described them as great achievers, saying, "It is a thing of joy to note that during your time the College has moved forward tremendously."

"This is evident in the number of projects executed during your time as well as several others that are coming that bear testimonies of your good works and legacies that you are leaving behind, for which you will be remembered for a long time."

Expressing optimism of better days in the institution, the College helmsman said the standard set by you would continue to be maintained, saying: "I want to assure you that in the next five months, when you will come back to this College by the grace of God, you will see that you have added more values to it in terms of projects executed."

The Provost used the occasion to express gratitude to the Council members for appointing him and three others – the Registrar, Librarian and Bursar –to serve as principal officers of the College. In addition, he also thanked them for approving the renewal of the appointment of the College Bursar.

While praying to God to continue to abide with them in their future endeavours, Dr. Akintunde promised that his administration would not relent in its efforts at taking the institution to greater heights.

Similarly, he lauded members of the institution's Academic Board for support given to his administration as well as valuable contributions made towards educational advancement in the institution.

Members of the Governing Council with some staff of the College

Describing the Board as the highest policy decision-making body in the College, the Provost paid glowing tributes to its members for their innovation and positive contributions to scholarship which culminated in the approval of new courses for the Nigeria Certificate in Education (NCE) programmes in the institution.

He listed some of the initiatives as the proposed introduction of On-line and weekend NCE programmes, as well as the establishment of mini campuses of the institution in several locations across the state, adding that the move was aimed at providing access to several qualified students seeking admission opportunities.

Also speaking, a member of the outgoing Governing Council, Hon. Abdullahi Muh'd Lamba Yelwa, who represented the Chairman, Prof. Nathaniel Ohazurike, described the occasion as memorable.

Hon. Abdullahi Muh'd Lamba Yelwa

X-raying the activities of the Governing Council in the institution in the last three years, Hon. Yelwa said: "The tenure of the Council, under the leadership of Prof. Nathaniel Ohazurike, which ended on 26 May, 2020, was full of positive testimonies."

On behalf of the Chairman and other members of the Council, he expressed appreciation to staff and students of the institution for the hospitality, support and cooperation given to them.

Hon. Yelwa also extended profound gratitude to the immediate past Provost and Registrar of the College, Prof. Olukoya Ogen and Mr. Felix Aderinboye respectively for the service they rendered to the College.

The outgoing Council member also applauded his colleagues for what he described as the display of love and unity as well as the determination exhibited to work together as a team, noting that the development contributed to the achievements recorded during their tenure.

He enumerated some of these as the appointment of principal officers and approval of several projects in the institution. Optimistic of the College's positive growth, he prayed that the Almighty Allah would continue to move the institution forward.

Other speakers, who also made contributions, were Mr. Lawrence Aremu, the representative of the National Commission for Colleges of Education (NCCE) in the Council and Dr. Folorunso Balogun, an academic staff of the College representing the Academic Board in the Council.

The highpoint of the colourful event which held at the Provost's Lodge was the presentation of gifts to members of the outgoing Governing Council by the Provost.

The event, which had members of the College Music Department in attendance, was graced by the Deputy Provost, Dr. Ajigbade Ikuejube; Registrar, Mrs. Olufisayo Fakorede; Librarian, Mr. Azino Akpokurerie and; Bursar, Mr. Ganiyu Abdul.

Others present were Deans and Directors, Deputy Registrars, various union leaders – COEASU, SSUCOEN, NASU and NACEATON – as well as Heads of Departments including Information and Public Relations, Provost's Office, Adeyemi College Television (ACETV) and staff from the College Council Affairs.

The outgoing Governing Council, inaugurated by President Muhammadu Buhari-led administration in May 2017, comprised: Prof. Nathaniel Ohazurike as Chairman; Hon. Abdullahi Muh'd Lamba Yelwa and Alhaji Aminu Bello as Government Appointees; Mrs. C.J Ugwuja as a representative of the Federal Ministry of Education; Mr. L.B. Aremu as a representative of the National Commission for Colleges of Education (NCCE) and Prof. Ademola Adeleke as a representative of University of Affiliation (OAU, Ile-Ife).

The others were Dr. D.O Ademulegun as a representative of Alumni Association; Dr. Folorunso Balogun and Dr. Johnson Ojo as representatives of the Academic Board, Dr. Samuel Akintunde as Provost and Mrs. Olufisayo Fakorede as College Registrar and Council Secretary. ●

Discover Yourself on Time, Acquire Entrepreneurial Skills for Self, National Development – Provost

The Provost, Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo, Dr. Samuel Akintunde has charged newly matriculated students in the institution to discover themselves early and engage in hard work in order to pave way for having excellent results and entrepreneurial skills, saying it will be of future benefit to them as individuals and Nigeria as a nation.

“I want to admonish you to be careful in choosing your friends so as not to be led astray by anyone. Discover yourself on time and engage in serious hard work for excellent results and entrepreneurial skill that would be beneficial to you and the country in future,” he stated this at the two-day 2019/2020 matriculation in the institution on Tuesday and Wednesday, 24 and 25 November, 2020.

The Provost revealed that: “Few days ago, the country is officially declared to have entered into the second recession within the last four years. Therefore, it is no longer news that our dear country is faced with different but related social and economic challenges that demand out-of-box reflections from both the young and the old.”

“Hence, there is the need to adopt strategies to survive in morally acceptable ways. I leave you with the responsibility of thinking out appropriate ways to adapt to the new realities in Nigeria,” he stated.

The Vice-Chancellor of Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife, Prof. Eytipe Ogunbodede also joined the Provost to advise the newly admitted students of the College to be of good behaviour during their stay in the institution.

Prof. Ogunbodede gave the advice in an address delivered at the 2019/2020 matriculation ceremony, held for the Degree students on Wednesday 25 November, 2020 at the Babatunde Ipaye Lecture Theatre in the College, advising them to behave responsibly when in the College.

Acting Dean, Faculty of Education, OAU, Prof. Bonke Adepeju Omotesho representative of the OAU VC

Represented by the Acting Dean, Faculty of Education, OAU, Ile-Ife, Prof. Bonke Adepeju Omotesho, the university administrator described the occasion as significant "because it signalled formal enrollment of the students into the college of education academic programmes.”

The OAU VC described teaching profession as noble, adding that recent pronouncement by the Federal Government on plans to improve teachers' welfare would serve as morale booster and strong indication of bright future for those who choose teaching profession as career.

He harped on the need for the students to behave responsibly while undergoing their studies as he advised them to shun act capable of dragging the good name of the College into the mud.

Prof. Ogunbodede used the occasion to commend management of the College for the feats recorded in recent years, especially the launch of a drone camera, stating that the achievement has brought glory to the institution as the first higher institution to have such equipment in Nigeria.

In his address, Dr. Akintunde congratulated the newly matriculated students on their admission to the institution, as he advised them to always be obedient to constituted authorities by adhering strictly to rules and regulations guiding their studentship in the College.

He reiterated the institution's zero tolerance to examination malpractice, as he warned the students against indulging in social vices such as rape, drug abuse, cultism, assault as well as indecent dressing.

The College administrator emphasized the need for the students to comply with the information contained in the matriculation oath read by them, warning that anyone found contravening the oath would receive appropriate sanction.

While emphasizing the need for the new students to shun bad association, the Provost equally counselled them to take their studies seriously by ensuring that they register for their courses and pay all prescribed fees as and when due.

The two-day exercise, which began with students admitted for the Nigeria Certificate in Education (NCE) programme on Tuesday, 24 November, climaxed with admission of oath on degree students on Wednesday, 25 November, 2020 by the Registrar of the College, Mrs. Olufisayo Fakorede, who was represented by the Deputy Registrar, Division of Pension and Staff matters, Mr. Gabriel Awe.

The ceremony was witnessed by the representatives of the Joint Admissions and Matriculation Board, the Ondo State Coordinator, Mr. Babatunde Bamisaye.

A total of 5,315 students comprising 1814 NCE and 3501

Degree students who participated in the ceremony were admitted for various courses into the seven schools in the institution.

The schools are Adult, Non-Formal and Special Education, Arts and Social Sciences, Early Childhood and Primary Education, General Education, Languages, Science and Vocational and Technical Education. ●

Torrents of Tributes, Eulogies from Friends, Colleagues, Family as College Mourns Exit of Legal Icon

Staff, friends and families present during the Commendation Service held for Late Barr. Abiodun Yusuf

Friends, colleagues and family members have poured in their torrents of tributes and eulogies as the remains of the former Head, Legal Unit, Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo, Barrister Bashiru Abiodun Yusuf, was laid to rest in his house at the FFF area in Ondo City.

Until his death, Yusuf, aged 60, was a Deputy Registrar and member of Rotary International District 9125 in the institution.

Speaking at the lying-in-state ceremony, organized by the Senior Staff Union Colleges of Education (SSUCOEN), Adeyemi College of Education chapter, held at the College Quadrangle on Friday, 13 November, 2020 in the institution, a cleric-cum staff of the College, Mr. Paul Adebayo, described the death of Barrister Yusuf as a big loss to the institution.

The preacher reminded people of the need to always be conscious of death by doing good at all times. He equally admonished them to be on the side of God so that when they die they would have a place in heaven.

In addition, Adebayo warned on dangers of seeking worldly things rather than salvation, saying: "Whatever you are doing on earth, take note that death will come one day."

He quoted several passages from the Bible in Job 14:1; Ecclesiastes 7:1 and John 14:1 to support his point as he appealed to people present at the event to have close relationship with God by accepting Jesus as the only one that can give eternity.

In his tribute after the short exhortation, the Provost of the College, Dr. Samuel Akintunde, described the deceased as honest, hardworking and dependable personality, whose exit would be greatly felt in the institution.

While expressing his condolences to the wife of the legal practitioner, the College chief administrator admonished her not to despair but to take solace in the fact that her

The Provost further stated that torrents of tributes and eulogies from friends, colleagues and family members on the life and times of the late legal practitioner bears enough testimony of his good character.

Similarly, in their various remarks, several eminent personalities from within and outside the College, including the College Registrar, Mrs. Olufisayo Fakorede; Southwest Zonal Secretary of SSUCOEN, Comrade Femi Ladenika; Chairman SSUCOEN ACE chapter, Comrade Cletus Oguayo, as well as representatives of the Rotary International District 9125 paid glowing tributes to the deceased.

Meanwhile, in a sermon delivered at a funeral service held for the late Barrister Yusuf at the Strong Tower Glorious Church International headquarters, Ondo, Ondo State, Pastor Tola Agbonmuserin emphasized the need for people to spend their time wisely on earth.

Speaking on "It was borrowed", the preacher informed the congregation that since God is the owner of their lives, they must be careful with the way they handle them.

Quoting from the Holy Bible in 2nd Kings Chapter Six from verses One to Seven to buttress his point, Agbonmuserin said it was imperative for everyone to learn good lesson from the passage, by being cautious of the way we live our lives.

He reminded the congregation of the certainty of death, saying it was a price that would be paid whether you are rich or poor.

The cleric warned people against waywardness and paying too much attention to pleasurable things, which he said could draw their attention away from God.

He admonished the congregation to always examine their lives to see if they are with God. He equally advised those who have left the path of righteousness to come back to God by seeking repentance, saying: "It is only through this, they would be saved."

The religious leader, however, appealed to parents to ensure that they leave good legacy behind for their children by teaching them God's word, stating that the step would place them on the path of truth and righteousness.

Eminent personalities from all walks of life who attended the ceremony included the Deputy Provost of the College, Dr. Ajigbade Ikuejube; Bursar, Mr. Ganiyu Olaniyi Abdul as well as the General Overseer of Strong Tower Glorious Church International, Pastor S.O Akinde.

Others present at the funeral were members of the executive officers of SSUCOEN ACE branch, staff of Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo; members of the Nigeria Bar Association, Ondo Branch; members of Rotary International District 9125. ●

Christmas Carol: A Memorable Night of Bliss in a Turbulent Year

Tuesday, 15 December, 2020, just ten days away from Christmas, is indeed an evening to be remembered by all and sundry in the annals of history of Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo as the community members cast away their sorrows in worship of the Almighty who has spared their lives and they were also mesmerized by the inspiring College choir and orchestra.

At 7:15 pm local time when the 2020 Carol came to an end, the carol attendees were hesitant to leave the College's Olusegun Obasanjo Auditorium. All the participants nodded continuously in affirmation that the 135 minutes spent at the event had been a time of refreshing, inspiration and rejuvenation.

The hope-giving musical event started at 5 pm with an inspiring opening prayer said by Pastor Dotun Funmilayo, while the Dean of Student Affairs, Mr. Olukayode Akinola set-inducted the gathering with a memorable call to worship.

Then spell-bound audience joyously sang O Come all Ye Faithful to create an evening of bliss. Then, it was swiftly followed by the first Bible reading taken by the Provost, Dr. Samuel Akintunde from Numbers 24: 17 – 19, predicting the coming of Christ as a "Star out of Jacob" and "Sceptre" that "shall rise out of Israel". The New Testament confirmation of the prediction in Mathew 1: 18-21 was also read, where the Virgin birth of the Saviour of the world was revealed: "And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shall call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins."

The angelic and melodious choir from music department together with theatre and creative arts department added colour to the event as the choir melodiously presented Ding Dong, rapidly followed Hark! The Herald and Christian, and quickly ended with Awake Salute the Happy.

The deep baritone voice of an ace vocalist, John Babatunde Babarinde, pierced and tore the thick darkness that had enveloped the year, making a silver lining to appear in the sky when he rendered God Rest You Merry. This was immediately followed by a quartet Good King to remind the audience of the royalty of Christ.

The Department of Theatre and Creative Arts acted the Homage to remind the audience of the sacredness of the Yuletide season and the need to pay homage to Christ the King of kings.

The Registrar, Mrs. Olufisayo Fakorede with her contagious smiles took the second Bible reading from Mathew 2: 1 – 11 to provide a justification for the celebration of the Christmas on 25 December by Christians throughout the world and the practice of exchanging gifts on 26 December known as the Boxing Day, as done by the wise men from the east who presented gifts to the "Governor" born in Bethlehem of Judea.

The Dean, School of Arts and Social Sciences, Dr. Mrs. Comfort Ibidapo joyfully read Luke 2: 8 – 14, which highlighted Christ Jesus as the harbinger of “peace on earth and goodwill to all men” as the host of heaven joined the angel, who broke the news of the birth of “Christ the Lord”, to worship God in humble adoration

Representative of the Provost, Dr. Raphael Adesuyan speaking at the Christmas Carol

Immediately after the third Bible reading, the ecstatic audience melodiously rendered a hymn, Jesus

Good Above All Others. This was followed by a thunderous ovation, penetrating through the silent night to usher in an atmosphere of glory and joy of the season. Then the tension created by the Covid-19 pandemic in the year ostensibly vanished into the darkness, as halogen lights brightened the auditorium.

A Zonal Pastor with The Redeemed Christian Church of God, who is also a staff of the College, Pastor Paul Adebayo had to advise participants at the event to give their life to Jesus to enjoy an overshadowing joy of the Lord during and after the Yuletide season.

The successful Christmas concert sponsored by the Management of Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo is part of the institution's annual activities to usher in the Christmas and the New Year season.

Speaking, an elated Dr. Akintunde thanked God for preserving everyone alive, even in the face of all challenges of the Year 2020. Represented by the Chairman, Committee of Deans, Dr. Raphael Adesuyan, he advised all to be security-conscious, especially as the year draws to an end.

In appreciation for gracing the occasion, the Head, Department of Music, Dr. Jacob Olabode Falusi thanked all members of the College community, as the congregation sang together Silent Night in a rapturous manner before the benediction led by Pastor Adebayo.

Present at the event were, the Provost of the College, represented by Dr. Raphael Adesuyan, Mrs. Olufisayo Fakorede, representative of the Bursar and representative of the College Librarian. Others include some deans, directors, and heads of departments, staff and students of the College.

It was indeed an evening of bliss that would linger on for a long time in the memories of the participants. ●

Provost to Workers: Year 2021 Will Be More Promising

Members of the College community during the new month Prayer Meeting

Workers in Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo have been encouraged to have strong faith in God for greater achievements and brighter days as they look forward to Year 2021.

The Provost of the institution, Dr. Samuel Akintunde made the statement at the College-organized Prayer Meeting held on Tuesday, 1 December, 2020 in the institution.

While thanking God for keeping staff and students of the College alive in spite of the emergence of corona virus pandemic that occurred during the year, the College helmsman expressed optimism of better days in the incoming year.

He commended members of the College Prayer Team for their efforts, stating that the monthly spiritual gathering has been of immense benefit to the institution.

His words: "God has been good to us in this College. We thank the Prayer Team and all religious leaders for their prayers which has been very effective," he stated.

While harping on the need for the congregation to always put their trust in God, Dr. Akintunde expressed hope that incoming Year 2021 will bring good blessings to the College despite some challenges experienced in the outgoing Year 2020.

He said: "Although, we have lost some grounds this year but by the special grace of God we will recover them back either as individuals or the College in the incoming year."

The Provost appealed for continued support as he harped on the need for peaceful co-existence. He also thanked members of the College community for "their understanding, cooperation and wished them a merry Christmas and a happy New Year in advance."

Earlier in a sermon delivered at the occasion, a member of the College Prayer Team and Dean of Student Affairs in the institution, Olukayode Akinola admonished staff and students of the College to believe God's word.

Akinola quoted from the Holy Bible in 1 Kings Chapter 17 Verses 8 -14, where the story involving Prophet Elijah and the widow of Zarephath was stated, to buttress his points.

Provost Commends Cooperative Multipurpose Executive, Inaugurates Newly Acquired Motorcycles

The Provost, Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo, Dr. Samuel Akintunde, has commended the leadership of the ACE Cooperative Multipurpose Society for being proactive in piloting the affairs of the society as he inaugurated 10 new motorcycles acquired for easing the movement of its members in the institution.

The ceremony, which held on Wednesday, 11 November, 2020, took place at the College's Quadrangle.

In his remarks on the occasion, Dr. Akintunde commended the leadership of the cooperative society for the initiative, stating that the decision to acquire the motorcycles and subsequent plan to sell them to their members at subsidized rate would go a long way in boosting their welfare.

In addition, he also lauded executive members of the society and some members of the association especially its one-time Caretaker Chairman, Dr. Mrs. Olukemi Akorede and current Vice-President of the society, Mrs. Olukemi Olajuyigbe, for various contributions made towards its advancement.

The College helmsman harped on the need for elders of the society not to renege in giving necessary support, stating that the step would help the association achieve its goals and objectives.

His words: "Congratulations! Everyone simply believed you are doing well because you have capable hands such as Mummy Akorede and Olajuyigbe, who have been assisting you to achieve what you have achieved."

While emphasizing the need for ensuring survival of all cooperative societies in the College, the Provost appealed to all stakeholders including their elders to continue to play active roles in their operations, stating that the move would help in ensuring their productivity and long term survival.

He said: "I wish to appeal to elders of cooperative societies in the College to continue to be at the forefront of managing them. This should be so because that is where we have our investments and we cannot allow them to go underground."

On the newly acquired motorcycles by the cooperative society, the Provost announced the intention of the College Management to support them through the purchase of two of the machines for use by the College Security Unit.

He equally pledged the resolve of his administration to continue identify with the society in its developmental efforts by rendering necessary support.

In an interview with the College Information and Public Relations Directorate crew, shortly after the inauguration, the President of the cooperative society, Mr. Samuel Omobolade gave gratitude to God and expressed appreciation to College Management for supporting the society.

He explained that the acquisition of the motorcycles for commercial purpose is geared towards assisting members of the society to buy them at subsidized rate.

In addition, the president said the step was also aimed at facilitating easy movement of members from their homes to various places of work.

The climax of the ceremony was the official commissioning of the motorcycles, a TVS XL 100 Heavy Duty, by the Provost of the College.

The ceremony was attended by many staff of the institution as well as members of the society from various departments and units such as Directorate of Information and Public Relations, Provost's Office. ●

Provost Bags Nnamdi Azikwe Leadership Award

Dr Samuel Akintunde receiving an award from Speaker, Nigerian Youth Parliament Rt Hon. Mubarak Mijin Yawa

The Nigerian Youth Parliament (NYP) has conferred the Nnamdi Azikwe Leadership Award of Excellence on the Provost of Adeyemi College of Education, Ondo, Dr. Samuel Akintunde.

The award presentation ceremony took place on Thursday, 3 December, 2020 at the Old Council Chamber in the institution.

The NYP speaker, Right Honourable Mubarak Mijin Yawa

The NYP speaker, Right Honourable Mubarak Mijin Yawa described the ceremony as unique, stating that the conferment of the award would serve as "historical reference point in the history of our organization."

On the rationale behind the award, Mubarak said it was done in recognition of Dr. Akintunde's contributions to youth and educational development. He eulogized Dr. Akintunde, describing him as "a living legend, an achiever as well as lover of youth and education."

He stressed the importance of the youth in national development, as he appealed to government at all levels to give attention to their needs by putting in place framework that could help in harnessing and bringing into "full play the energy of our youth in the task of transforming our continent into a truly developing one."

Responding, Dr. Akintunde stated that he was happy with the award, revealing that it was the second to be given to him in a couple of months – sequel to a similar one given him by the African Youth Parliament.

He, thereafter, announced the dedication of the award to other principal officers of the College, saying he took the step as a demonstration of acknowledgment of the cooperation and support given to him.

The Provost said: "We want to thank God for all that we do. When you are marked for anything, it is not, probably, because of yourself alone. This is because you cannot achieve anything without people working with you."

"When you see leaders, whom you can point to for doing well, it is not because of their own efforts. It is because they have a team that has been very supportive," he enthused.

"When I conceive any idea on youth development, I always bring it to them. So, if you don't have followers that you can share your vision and mission with, you are likely to fail, even if that mission and vision is the best as at that time."

"It takes people for you to accomplish your goals and aspirations. So, I am grateful to all of them. I also want to dedicate the award to them," he remarked.

Dr. Akintunde reiterated his love for the youth, saying: "It has always been my passion to continue to do my utmost best for youth in the College."

The Provost highlighted efforts being made at encouraging entrepreneurship education in the institution, stating that the move was targeted at making students of the College self-reliant after graduation.

"By the grace of God, we have started entrepreneurship education in the College. It is targeted at making our students embrace skill acquisition."

"Today, I can tell you that many of our students have acquired skills, which they now use to fend for themselves. In fact, some of their products are now being sold at the College's Skill Acquisition Centre."

"Again, we also train students in Journalism through our ACE TV and ACE Online Radio. Some of our students who have graduated have gained employment in some radio stations in Southwest. Some of them are with the Ogun State Television (OGTV), while others are in some radio stations in Ondo City.

While thanking the youth organization for the award, he expressed optimism for better days ahead, adding that it would spur him to do more for the youths.

The event was witnessed by the Deputy Provost, Dr. Ajigbade Ikuejube; Registrar, Mrs. Olufisayo Fakorede; Bursar, Mr. Ganiyu Olaniyi Abdul and; College Librarian, Mr Azino Akpokurerie.

Also in attendance were NYP members and officials of the College from the Directorate of Information and Public Relations and Office of the Provost. ●

Provost Inaugurates Cooperative Society Block Factory

Deputy Provost, Dr. Gbade Ikuejube representing the Provost at the commissioning of ACE Coop. Block Factory

The Provost, Adeyemi College of Education Ondo, Dr. Samuel Akintunde, has inaugurated a multi-million Naira block factory established by one of the cooperative societies in the institution.

Represented by his deputy, Dr. Ajigbade Ikuejube at a brief ceremony held on Friday, 6 November, 2020 at the block making factory site located along Laje Road in Ondo City, the College administrator lauded the executives of the cooperative society for conceiving the idea and making it a reality.

He underscored the importance of cooperative societies in human development, noting that its operation as alternative platform for provision of social and financial services has helped tremendously in boosting societal growth and development.

He, however, stressed the need for members of the executive of the cooperative society to exhibit accountability and transparency in the discharge of their duties, stating that the move would help in boosting trust, confidence and love among their members.

He advised them not to allow external interference in their operations as he pledged support of the College Management to the advancement of the society.

Earlier, the president of the cooperative society, Mr. Samuel Omobolade described the occasion as epoch-making and thanked Management of the College for support given to the organization.

He listed equipment installed at the factory as two block moulds, 500 pallets, 3-phase alternator generator, 2 rings plates as well as a 40ft- container, which he said, would be used for storing bags of cement required for blocks making operation.

Omobolade expressed optimism of good returns on investment, saying: "When this factory is fully operational, the society intends to purchase one big Mercedes Benz lorry that will be used for carriage of sand, gravel and other materials to the factory."

In addition, he also dropped hint of plans to embark on the production of ice-cream and yoghurt and sale of building materials, landscape tiles and electric poles.

He further hinted that the society had concluded arrangement with the management of Dangote Cement plc for "bulk and subsidized direct supply of cement to the society."

The coop president sought partnership with the College Management, as he appealed for patronage from staff of the institution and members of the public.

He expressed appreciation to members of the society for their support and gave special recognition to the Vice-President of the society, Mrs. Olukemi Olajuyigbe and other members of the society such as Dr. Kehinde Adelegan, Dr. Ibukunoluwa Johnson, Mr. John Abimbola, Mr. Temidayo Fapounda and Mrs. Olupayimo, for various contributions to the progress of the society.

Important personalities who attended the brief ceremony include the College Bursar, Mr. Ganiyu Olaniyi Abdul; Chairman, Nigerian Bricklayers Association, Ondo West Local Government chapter, Mr. Fola Ayodeji; his Deputy, Mr. Ojonla Olapade and several members of the Cooperative Society from the College. ●

Deputy Provost, Dr. Gbade Ikuejube speaking at the Block Factory

The Provost lauded the giant strides of the organization, especially its diversification drives.

The Dean of Student Affairs enjoined staff and students of the College to always seek God's face and shun sinful behaviour, saying through that they would be able to enjoy divine blessings and protection.

The monthly spiritual gathering held at the Olusegun Obasanjo

Auditorium featured prayers for the College, its staff and students, Ondo community and the Nigerian nation.

Important personalities who attended the occasion included: Deputy Provost, Dr. Ajigbade Ikuejube; Librarian, Mr. Azino Akpokurerie; senior officials of the College from various schools, units, departments and directorates.

The climax of the spiritual gathering was the recognition and offering of prayers for those, present at the occasion, who were born in the month of December. ●
